budget, but the transfer will have to be made anyway in the beginning if it's important enough I would assume.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Yeah, and I think that depends on the...it's going to be a little bit of a cash flow issue. I assume you're in the second year of the biennium, primarily, you're talking about...

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: Correct.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: ...and so whether we have to make some adjustments in that particular year, in this case would be next year right at this time perhaps, you'll...they'll decide that that will be a decision that has to be made.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: The one thing, though, I think we would both be...we would both concur with is that the fact that the Legislature would have to make that transfer would make it even more realistic or real to the body...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Right.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: ...of what the economic situation of the state would be in.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Right.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: That may help fiscally in the outlying years as well.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Obviously, it could be subject to discussion and discussion.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: So, for the purpose of the Appropriations Committee or Chair trying to make sure that we be as careful as we could be versus those that want to try to maximize dollars into (inaudible) areas, you're feeling very good about this I assume at this point.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: I think so.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: Thank you, Senator Wehrbein, and with that I support the amendment as well.
